PMA GAFOOR INTERVIEW

Upon coming to the college to attend the National Women's Day Celebration Seminar, the famous motivator and speaker, PMA Gafoor was interviewed by the Union Members.

In his interaction, he talked about his life history and how he came into the field of speaking. He says that he believes that easing a mental hardship can not only give rewards in the hereafter, but also gives him immense joy and happiness to see a smile on their faces.

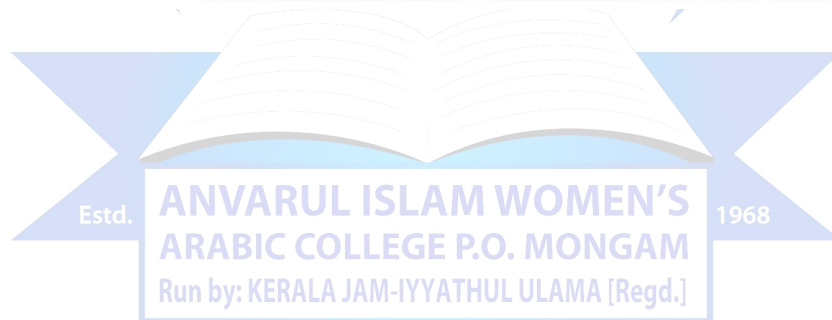

When asked about girl's education, he said that it is the girl who has to be given education, whether married or not, as she is the one to provide values and knowledge to the coming generation. He says that marriage should never be considered a hurdle in pursuing education and in case one feels so, they should rather choose education first and then go for marriage. He also motivated the students to enjoy reading and also practice public speaking skills to come up to speak for themselves and their issues.

Finally he said that being a Muslim girl, education should be seen as a right and not just a life chore.
